

Camp Holiday Trails Indigenous Land Acknowledgment Statement

We acknowledge that Camp Holiday Trails is located on the ancestral territory of the Monacan Nation. We recognize the enduring presence, resilience, and contributions of the Monacan Nation throughout the generations. We honor the Monacan people, their elders, past and present, and recognize their profound connection to this land, as well as the cultural heritage and ongoing contributions of Indigenous peoples.

As we gather at Camp, we do so with respect for the Indigenous peoples who have been stewards of this land for countless generations. We are committed to learning from the wisdom of Indigenous communities and to building positive relationships based on understanding and mutual support.

We know that acknowledging the traditional territory is a small step in the larger journey of reconciliation and partnership. We strive to create an inclusive and equitable space for all, fostering gratitude and stewardship for this land we share.
